

1073 and 9048 Solve
crime

One day 1073 and 9048 were racing down the track.

As the sun began to set, 1073 and 9048 headed towards the city of new York.

The first thing that they noticed was that there was SOOOOO many people. This might be a problem for trains they thought.

The trains decided to go ice skating,
which they thought was easy.

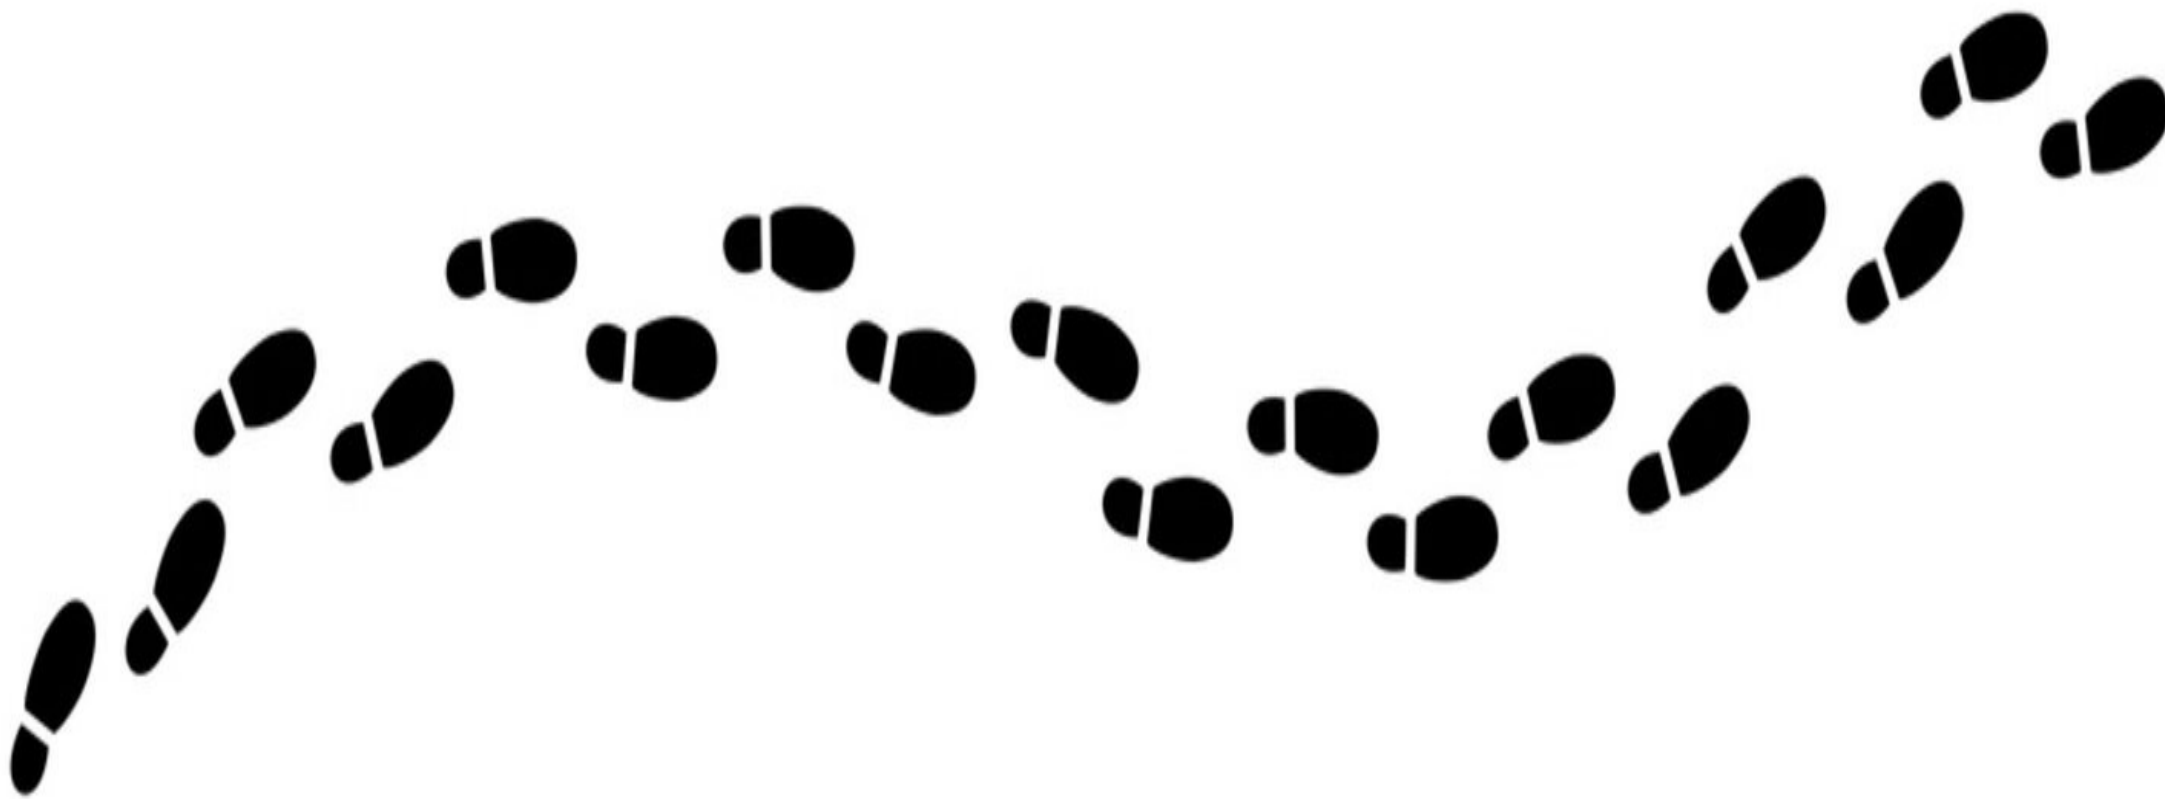

Then the trains headed to a crime scene to help solve the crash.

As the trains looked for evidence at the crime scene they noticed some strange looking footprints.

The trains decided to follow the footprints...

The footprints led them to a warehouse.

And they found villain by the warehouse.

They captured the villain and took him to jail.

